

2009–10 GCPS Schools by Area and Cluster

Geographically, the school system covers a 437-square mile area northeast of Atlanta. It extends from Norcross on the west and Dacula on the east, to Lake Lanier on the north and Snellville on the south. GCPS students are enrolled in schools according to “cluster” attendance zones. A cluster is a geographical area containing two to four elementary schools that feed into the same one or two middle schools, then the same high school. (Feeder elementary schools are grouped under the appropriate middle school.) Attendance for some locations is not determined by cluster. The special programs for these locations are noted below.
